President Predicts Domination by England and Another War-Collins Argues Erin Gets Same Right as Canada to Envoy in U.S.

DUBLIN, Dec. 19 (Associated Press).-Under the status granted her by the pending agreement, Ireland would have the same right as Canada to send an Ambassador to Washington, declared Michael Collins, Sinn Fein Finance Minister, in arguing for ratification of the Anglo-Irish Treaty before the public session of the Dail Eireann this afternoon.

Collins, long-time leader of the Republican Army, made the principal argument of the afternoon for the treaty he signed in London. Arthur Griffith, who with him is making a determined fight for ratification. presented his argument upon moving adoption of the treaty at the morning session, declaring it safeguarded all the interests of Ireland Eamon De Valera, the Republican President, fighting for rejection, denounced the treaty as "subversion of the republic."

"This treaty," declared Collins, in denying charges that he had been bluffed into signing the document, "was not signed under the personal intimidation of any delegate." The people, he said, did not understand the immense powers the treaty had given the Irish people. Irish aspirations were satisfied with security and freedom, and the remova! of the British Army was proof that the national principles had been established

Mr. Collins's argument that the Constitutional status of Ireland under the agreement was exactly the same as that of Canada and South Africa and that Ireland had no less a right than Canada to send an Ambassador to the United States was greeted with cheers.
